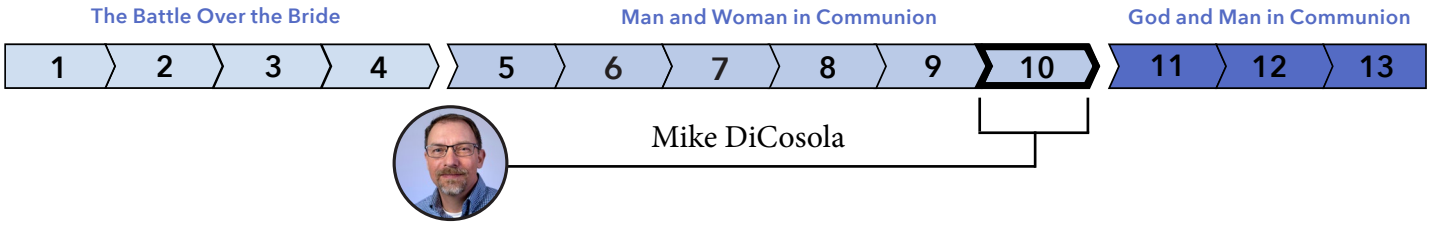
Session 10: Becoming a Man of Prayer

Fall Semester Timeline



Summary

In this session, we are invited to see prayer as essential to masculine discipleship and family leadership. Jesus is presented as the model, not only because he taught prayer, but because he lived it out through His communion with the Father. Mike makes it clear that prayer is not a surface-level habit or a religious checklist; but rather, it is an exchange between hearts, where God draws us deeper into love. Married men are especially challenged to pray with and over their wives, not as a performance, but as an act of spiritual responsibility. We are reminded that we may feel unqualified, hesitant, or even embarrassed, but those feelings cannot become excuses. This session gives practical help so that prayer can become a consistent reality rather than idea. It calls us to take one step forward, trusting that Christ meets us where we are and leads us further.

Small Group Goals

- Help men see prayer as an exchange of hearts, not merely a task to complete.
- Encourage each man to build a realistic daily prayer commitment.
- Challenge husbands to pray with and over their wives as part of their spiritual leadership.

Discussion Questions

- What about you? Will you swan or prattle or make the commitment today to go deep in praying with and over your wife?
- What is your plan to ask your wife to go deeper in prayer as a couple? What prevents you from taking this step and how can you overcome it?
- If you do not have a spouse, what will you commit to changing today about your prayer life?

Supplemental Questions

- What most often prevents you from becoming a consistent man of prayer?
- What simple daily prayer practice could you actually sustain right now?
- Who is one man who could help hold you accountable in prayer?
